

SEEKS $200,000 DAMAGES FOR CRITICISM

Chicago, July 11 (INS)—Franklin Harding, elderly oil burner magnate, from whom Ann Livingston won a $250,000 breach of promise verdict, today faced another suit against him. This time for $200,000 on a charge of slander.

Only the synopsis of the new suit was filed and this contained no details of the basis for the action. But Ann explained the matter today at the Mott Hotel, where she is living.

"Mr. Harding gave out an interview to the papers several days ago, in which he called me a gold-digger," she announced. "Also he said that I had broken up a home."

"Just imagine! I haven't yet collected that $250,000. I was awarded and I've got to earn my money."

Mr. Harding told the newspapers that if it appeared on the stage the audience ought to hiss me off. "Just imagine! I haven't yet collected that $250,000. I was awarded and I've got to earn my money."

The suit was filed by Miss Livingston's attorney, Benjamin H. Ehrlich. He is the author of the syndicated column in which she will make her stage debut.

N. H. U. TIED IN PAPER CONTEST

Durham, N. H., July 11 (AP)—The University of New Hampshire tied with Ohio State University in a prize competition among agricultural colleges for the best farm publication at the 17th annual convention of the American Association of Agricultural College Editors, in session here. Colleges from 30 states and the District of Columbia are attending the convention, now in its third day.

New Hampshire and Ohio State each won four blue ribbons in the paper contest, which included prizes for the best popular and technical agricultural bulletins, the best graded press service on agricultural news, the best extension service, material used for radio broadcasting, and the agricultural departments of weekly newspapers.

Boy Killed in R. I. Crash, Brother Hurt

Providence, July 11 (AP)—A 21-year-old Fall River youth was injured fatally, one of his brothers was badly hurt and a third brother escaped serious injury when an automobile, the owner unidentified, of which likewise is believed to have been injured, smashed into their parked car on the Nonesuch road near the village of Washington.

Henry Vautin, son of George Vautin of 31 North Street, Fall River, died a few minutes after he was taken to the Rhode Island Hospital. His brother, Frank, is suffering from a fractured leg. The other brother, Arthur, 15, was not hurt.

2886 Rejected for U. S. Navy at Chicago

Chicago, July 11 (INS)—Of the 3700 men who applied in Chicago last year for service in the United States Navy, 2886 were rejected. It was announced today by Theodore W. Davis, Navy representative.

Higher physical and mental requirements, Davis said, are responsible for the great number of rejections. But increased pay in the Navy and increased opportunities for education in trade schools and at the Naval Academy have increased the number of applicants.

Benefit Garden Affairs On South Shore Hold Interest of Matrons and Debutantes

EVEN INTO THE WARM WEATHER MONTHS DO SOCIETY matrons carry their enterprising alertness, their activities and interests, many and varied as they are. Today three summer affairs hold their interest, two of them down Cohasset way and the other at the extensive Cape Cod estate of Mrs. George D. Parker, opened this day especially for the welfare of the Farm and Garden Shop. A flower show, a handicraft exhibition, the first of a series of three summer sales planned by the Educational Union, and the Farm and Garden bazaar provide a generous selection.

For weeks Mrs. William H. Brown has planned the fourth annual flower exhibit of the Cohasset Garden Shop, and this day her efforts will bear sufficient fruit to make the club's gift to the Lathrop School in Green, in whose financial interest the exhibit was decided upon, a munificent one. The huge barn on the Brown estate has been transformed into a profusion of delightful flowers for the next three days. Mrs. B. Preston Clark, Mrs. Roger C. Hatch, Mrs. William T. Macmillan, Mrs. Malcolm Seymour and Mrs. T. Frederic Stoddard have assisted Mrs. Brown.

OF TREMENDOUS APPEAL is the foreign scene class, and in this unusual display exhibitions have been entered by Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. James Dean, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. J. Franklin McEwain, Mrs. Almon Niglow, Mrs. Charles Gammons and Mrs. Charles C. Wheelwright.

And not very distant from the Brown estate society moves about the spreading grounds of the Samuel Cabot residence in Jerusalem rd., there to do their bit in reviving the art of fine needlework. A sale of choice Jacobean and early American stitchings is as a magnet in drawing to this benefit the many who have helped to establish the Educational Union. Mrs. J. Templeman Coolidge, at whose Fortmouth, Vt., she holds the second sale is to take place, is among those in charge of today's. Mrs. Gabel, Mrs. Myron Firth, Mrs. Frederick S. Mosley, Mrs. Alexander S. Nelson, Mrs. Henry J. Vaughan, Mrs. Edward R. Warren and Mrs. Charles J. Young not only contribute their names to this worthy endeavor but their important selves to carry on a work to which society has long been devoted.

THE YOUTH AND GRACE of the Fraser girls, Marion and Eleanor, and Dorothy Blodgett, add to the importance of the Farm and Garden event. The girls shy and mother in making this day a real day for the Newbury street shop, for long the haven of those of the best families. Mrs. Horace Fraser is not alone in the execution of the sale, for an imposing list of assistants are at her beck and call. Mrs. Charles R. Adams, Mrs. Andrew Adie, Mrs. Charles M. Hammond, Mrs. Walter C. Bayles, Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, Mrs. Rene E. Blaine and Mrs. A. Felix du Pont are seen doing their share.

at a few days before the nuptial of her sister is Mrs. Joseph to arrive at Edgewater, N. J., to Beverly Farms. And two days before, on the 14th, will the bride herself put in an appearance at the charming North Shore summer place, now being readied for wedding. On Saturday Mrs. John Ballantine Pittay (Frances Williams) and Houston Rawls of Detroit and New York will be wedded, the spouses to take place at Mrs. Lett's summer home. The bride and Mrs. Lett are daughters of Mrs. John R. Williams of Washington, and the late Col. Williams. Mrs. Lett is a handsome and gracious matron, a Washingtonian and to the preference when not at home in the Windy City, summering at the North Shore, or flitting about from world capital to world capital.

FOR THEIR DAUGHTER, Mrs. Harold L. Chaffee, the Albert C. Burrage of Manchester will be host and hostess at a dinner and dance aboard their steam yacht, Arctic, tomorrow night. Invitations for more than 50 have been issued and could the good ship Arctic hold more, the number of invited guests would have been greater.

THE PRESENCE OF MRS. A. Lynde Cochrane again will be denied the Billington Hall amateur theatricals. The duties of motherhood and interest in those pretty, curly-headed youngsters of hers, have kept this North Shore smart one at home. How proud she was when her girl brought back ribbon home from the Hamilton horse show. Which bids me to predict that the Cochrane subscription will make social history when their time arrives, for now in their tender years not only are they talented, but as pretty two girls—yet to be included in their history, for with two young daughters, an indulgent mother could never escape the callings of feminine hearts for the wares of Parisian modistes. The John G. Mores of Concord are sojourning in New York for a spell, I hear, and are housed at the Ambassador. And in the exodus I find Mrs. Arthur Grinnell Roth.

Mrs. Harris Fahnestock, Jr., formerly Alice M. Post, and Mrs. James J. Wadsworth were two of the gay throng who basked in sunshine at Newport's playground, Ball's Beach.

The active mother of the beautiful Josephine, just wed, has gone to Hilltop Farm, at Lakeville. Betty Alden

FROST FAMILY 33RD REUNION AT SALEM

Salem, July 11.—The 33d annual meeting of the Frost Family Association of America was held at Salem, Mass., today. It was followed by the election of officers.

Many letters from members of the association were read by Secretary John E. Frost of Newtonville, Mass. The program was a letter and poem written for the occasion by Mrs. Harriet E. Frost of Beverly, who celebrated her 80th birthday last March. Her handwriting was one of the most interesting exhibits of the afternoon.

Rev. William Goodell Frost, head of the Berea College, Kentucky, was unable to be present.

The following officers were elected for the year: Mrs. Thomas W. Howard, treasurer, Newtonville, Mass.; Norman Frost, historian, Peabody, Mass.; vice-president, Mrs. Edith W. Frost, Boston; Miss Isabel Hoyt, Bird Land, New York; Fred Frost, Boston; Mrs. Henry W. Frost, Princeton, N. J.; Dr. Edward L. Frost, Buffalo, N. Y.; Charles A. Frost, Chicago; Dwight M. Frost, New Haven; Hildred Frost, Springfield; Mrs. Jessie J. Frost, Springfield; Mrs. George J. Frost, Smith's Falls, Ont.

Executive Committee—Miss Mildred N. Frost, Newton Center; Mrs. Florence P. Howe, Springfield; Fred Frost, Cambridge; Publication Committee—Harold L. Frost, Arlington; John E. Frost, Newtonville; Timothy P. Frost, D. D., Hartford, Conn.; G. Howard Frost, West Newton.

Summer Course of Museum Now Open

During the summer of 1923 the Museum of Fine Arts inaugurated its summer course. The success that it is being repeated with a large registration this year. Philip H. Hale is conducting classes in drawing and Frederick W. Allen teaches modeling. Instruction is given in portrait painting by Frederick A. Bailey and Leslie P. Thompson; design and interior decoration by Edwin Cowan; jewelry and metal work by George J. Hunt. The summer session opened on July 3 and will continue through August 9.

New Hampshire to Raise Pheasants

Concord, N. H., July 11.—Experiments will be conducted at the Hampshire Game Farm to determine the best method of raising pheasants, the state fish and game department announced.

Clubwomen to Study Pre-School Child

Stimulation greater interest of mothers in modern kindergarten training will be one of the featured activities of the Department of Education of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs at its fall reassembly.

Its chairman, Mrs. David N. Nickerson, has pointed out that clubwomen can render real service to the "Little Citizens of Tomorrow" by giving an opportunity to the mothers of their vicinity to understand the kindergarten training and its relation to character building for the pre-school child.

Mrs. Nickerson has at other times stressed the training of the kindergarten as an education value that next winter she will see realized.

Even though the mother has been a teacher herself and can give her child the best home surroundings, she should have the opportunity to understand what the modern kindergarten training actually is.

She states further: "It is the social contacts of his kindergarten world which can best develop him when neither the home nor the school is quite so sure of things that is needed to establish right habits of mind and action. Even if the school housing program and prevent school boards from taking immediate action the process can be greatly aided by a talk to parents."

NEW ENGLAND CONFERENCE

"Creating a New England consciousness to be the keynote of the September New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs which this year is to take place at the Green House, Watch Hill, Rhode Island, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 4, 5 and 6. The discussion will revolve about these themes and delegates from the various sister clubs will be in a gliding school at Brockton Airport.

Brockton, July 11.—Operators of the Brockton Airport have purchased materials for a gliding school, starting early next week, will open a school in glider instruction, to be held in connection with a "round and flying" school now being conducted. The glider school will be a part of the gliding and flying school and student flyers will take their solo hop in a glider.

ATTACKERS OF BIDDEFORD GIRL ARE TRACED TO BAY STATE

BOSTON POLICE INVESTIGATION FOR PAIR

17-Year-Old Victim Beaten Unconscious, Strapped to Mail Box

Boston police listed Maine authorities today in a search for a Detroit youth, definitely named as one of the two attackers of Mary Anna Blanton, 17-year-old Biddeford, Me. girl, who bruised and unconscious was found strapped to an R. F. D. mail box five miles from her home.

The young woman was able today to fix the identity of her principal assailant. He was a former schoolmate of hers she said, but had been employed lately in Detroit. She gave the man's name, described him and described his car. His accomplice she did not know.

Biddeford police immediately broadcast the word that they suspect in question was wanted. Reports that an automobile resembling that of the alleged fugitive had been seen Massachusetts-bound caused the manhunt to swing toward Boston. Through roads toward Detroit were at once put under surveillance.

Miss Blanton was found by Mrs. Henry Goss of Loudon rd., who heard moans. The girl evidently had been unconscious for about 24 hours. She said that shortly after she left work at the Peppermint Mills at 6 o'clock she noticed two men following her in a machine. On a small bridge between mail buildings one of the men jumped from the car, according to her story. A knife, which she said she saw, was used to cut her hair, and she said that one of the men carried her to the edge of the woods and threatened to kill her. Then she claims she was hit in the head with a club and knocked unconscious.

FORGER, MURKIN UNDER RED, ARRESTED

Frank Blanchard, 43, who has been sought on charges of forgery in many cities and towns since 1924, is under arrest today. Blanchard is wanted on charges in Worcester, Milford, Concord, Everett, Cambridge and Springfield, but has not been seen since this vicinity recently. Patrolman Edward J. Kelley was patrolling Prospect st. at 10 o'clock when he saw Blanchard enter his mother's home. Blanchard's wife and eight children all make their home. Photographed at Inspector Thomas E. Carroll's apartment at 100 St. Louis st. sent to all parts of the city to recognize Blanchard. Kelley sent in a card to headquarters, which brought Sgt. William A. Curtin and Patrolman John O'Brien with them to the Blanchard home. The three officers entered the house and arrested Blanchard. She claimed that Blanchard was not at home, but the officers found him under a bed.

BROOKLINE GIRL IS BRIDE

Miss Mary Corneille Head and Mr. Charles Marshall Brooks Jr., both of Brookline, were married in St. Mark's R. C. Church of the Holy Trinity, Brookline, today. The bride, who is Emma Willard school at Troy, N. Y., had Miss Marion Brooks and Mrs. Charles H. Convey as bridesmaids. The bridegroom, who is a Chaplain of Brookline, Mr. Frank Myers of Montclair, N. J., and Robt. Swart of Nashua, N. H., and Margaret Daniels of Brookline. Alvin D. Strandberg of Brookline, N. Y., acted as best man at the bridegroom, who was graduated from Yale in 1918. The other corps included Marshall Head, Wrentham, Philip H. Bird, Forest Emory, Russell Dean, Rayman H. Hayner, and Royal G. Kenney. After a two weeks' wedding trip to Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks will go to Kansas City to reside, where they will be at home after September 1.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Marshall Head of 28 Abbottford rd., Brookline, carried a prayerbook with medieval gown of ivory satin trimmed with red velvet and a crown by her mother and grandmother. All the attendants were in white, and with matching tips.

WHY MISS PRINCE'S carry off the bride and groom? Police officers, who are in charge of the wedding, are sure that the bride and groom will be safe. The bride and groom are both well known in the city and are sure to be safe.

Mr. and Mrs. Battles Weren't All in Fun

Ralph L. Rogers, author of the radio sketch, "Mr. and Mrs. Battles," never had to step outside his own door for material. But he will have to in the future when he is searching for dialogue for the sketch. Rogers, who is now in the city, has been writing the sketch for the radio station, and he has been writing the sketch for the radio station, and he has been writing the sketch for the radio station.

Broker Got $444 From Land Sale

In answer to Franklin P. Reichle of Swampscott who is suing him for $400 in Suffolk Superior Court for alleged sufficing of the profits from a sale of real estate, Warren P. Freeman, 31 Milk st., real estate expert for the city of Boston, declared that he (Freeman) acted as the broker in the transaction and received the regular real estate "brokerage commission, viz: 4 per cent on the selling of the property."

Car Overturns at Newbury as Steering Gear Breaks, Husband Hurt

Newbury, July 11.—Mrs. Theresa Gills, 35, wife of James H. Gills of 28 Chestnut st., Quincy, was fatally injured in an automobile accident on the Newburyport Turnpike here. She died a short time after being taken to the Anna Jacques Hospital, Newburyport. Her skull had been fractured.

The body was viewed by Asst. Medical Examiner Murphy and turned over to a local undertaker. With her husband, Mrs. Gills was riding in a small touring car which, witnesses said, was going at a moderate speed when the steering gear broke and her lost control of the car, which overturned. Mrs. Gills was rushed to the hospital in an ambulance. Patrolman Grist of the State police patrol accompanied it and cleared the way. Gills escaped with a slight injury to one of his elbows.

Two Women Hurt in Plymouth Crash

Plymouth, July 11.—An automobile accident occurred at the Lay's Meyers cranberry bog when a roadster in which were riding Mrs. Mary Jane Boland of Vermont and Miss Beatrice Boland of New York left the highway, rolled over onto the cranberry bog, caught fire and burned up. The two women were taken to the Jordan Hospital in this town, for treatment for bruises and cuts.

The two women were traveling in company with a number of automobiles and going toward the cape. It was raining hard and the road was slippery. The automobile skidded and the driver lost control of it. It went over into the bog. The Plymouth fire department was called out, but the car was completely buried before they got there, as it is nine miles from the station.

One of the other automobiles brought the injured women to the hospital and they were able to leave the hospital today.

STRIKE PEACE IN HAVERHILL FADES

Shoe Workers and Manufacturers Fail to Resume Negotiations

Haverhill, July 11.—A hope of settling the controversy over the demands of the Shoe Workers' Protective Union for a five-day week and 1827 wages, an increase of 15 per cent, was virtually abandoned when the conference of a committee of the union executive board and the trustees of the Shoe Manufacturers' Association failed to bring about resumption of negotiations.

There are 20 firms and 5000 shoe workers involved in the strike, only two firms having signed new agreements. The 25 firms affiliated with the Shoe Manufacturers' Association are bound not to deal with the union excepting with the consent of the trustees and the strike that has been on for six weeks is likely to be a prolonged struggle.

Another agreement of the union with a shoe firm expires today and it is certain that this firm will not grant the demands. It became known that two shoe firms plan to open their factories next week on a co-operative basis. The union has warned by letter all the shoe firms with which they have agreements that their members are bound under penalty of expulsion from entering into contracts for a co-operative factory and the union has also started a campaign against a few factories that have been maintained as open shops.

It also became known after the conference between the union officials and the association trustees that the 25 manufacturers affiliated with the association will be relieved from their obligations before the end of the week and will thus be free either to run their factories as open shops or upon a co-operative basis with employees. Officials of the union predicted that any attempt of manufacturers to maintain open shops will be met with a demand having been made on the unfair labor law to develop into a strike labor trouble.

SPLIT NOSE, ON OTHER BOY, STARTED ZERAMBY'S CAREER

FISTIC PRIDE OF THE SHOE CITY FOND OF YOUNGSTERS AND IS REAL HOME LOVER

JAKE ZERAMBY
5'6" 150 LBS
5'6" 150 LBS

By JOHN GULLCOOLY

A broken nose on the other fellow's countenance was the start of Jake Zeramby's rise up the ladder of pugilism that may terminate with Jake sporting the world's feather-weight or lightweight crown in the not distant future.

The boxing-pugilist led from Lynn, before he hardly knew what a boxing glove was took offense at a "nose-crack" from a slightly older lad in the Y. M. C. A. gym in his home town.

Jake whipped a night through the air with the result that his opponent's nose was split into two different parts. It seemed far enough to Jake but the world took on a gloomy pall the following day when he was informed that he had to pay the doctor's expenses for the damaged nose.

The only way he could get money to pay the bill was to go to work, for his people were in no position to offer assistance. Dick Russell, manager in the Y. M. C. A., took to Jake to work peddling towels and kept at this labor until he had made something of a real fighter, though he never engaged in a prize fight and made encounters after his first assault.

Zeramby, who is some swimmer as well as boxer, delights in teaching Lynn youngsters the idea of how to shoot punches over in the most approved Queensberry fashion. Needless to say, Jake goes big with the kids. (Photos by Bruce McLean, staff photographer.)

Jake believes in keeping abreast of the news and does so by reading the Boston Evening American each day. The supper hour would indeed be a drear time for Lynn's ring idol if he could not enliven it with a favorite paper and his folks, who fairly idolize Jake and see to it that his mental as well as his physical wants are supplied. Zeramby is shown in the picture seated beside his father, while his mother is standing, and looking over the sporting pages of the paper which, naturally, is Jake's favorite.

Under the tutelage of "Ma" Zeramby, Jake has developed into a first-class window washer, so, should he ever decide to quit the ring, he would have a trade to fall back on. But that is most unlikely, for, just now, Zeramby is rising rapidly in his chosen profession and finding boxing to be quite lucrative.

RUSSELL, who has been managing Jake since he was 13, formed a boxing team to battle an invading Y team from Boston. On the eve of the battle his entry in the 112-pound class took sick. The result was that Zeramby was pressed into action and made good.

Then Jake took the next move—the amateur. He fought 20 battles in this division and lost only two, one misadventure on a New England title to Frankie Rosen and was beaten in the intercity bout at Cincinnati by Eugene Decker of New Orleans.

He has engaged in 37 battles since turning pro in September, 1927. And has lost only one, Eddie Curley, whom Zeramby has beaten three times. Look at a decision for him in January, 1929, at the Garden.

His record—54 wins in 57 fights—speaks for itself.

Jake is a Jewish-American. His father was born in Providence and his mother in New York. He is the youngest of five children. Jake has a married sister and three brothers, Harry and Louis. Louis is a champion high diver and is at present a swimming star at the Boys' Club on Dudley st.

JAKE, who is only 18 years old, is something of a fish in the water. He's rather swifter than fish—no, he isn't. He's a fish in the water of the Lynn arena. He finished three years in Lynn English high school where he excelled in football, baseball, track and swimming. Jake never made a name for himself in school sports. He spent his time playing sports basketball, boxing and swimming.

Jake is the pride of the family and the idol of his mother. When the kids flock on his heels as if he were the Pied Piper, it is because of his persuasive mimicry. When not fighting he likes to spend his hours as much as possible though his mother chafes at his idleness. He might enjoy his leisure time.

THOUGH his rise has been rapid and he's only a step from the top, Jake hasn't increased the size of his headwear. He speaks to all his admirers and often goes out of his way to do so. Consequently the crowd who cheer when Jake is in the ring has a great following from the Shoe City and his fans are at present planning a testimonial to him which will be tendered him on July 15.

Dick Russell, his pal and his manager, has arranged four fights for him before next January is closed. He'll fight Tony Caron, Benny Bass, Honeyboy Pineson and finally on January 15 the champion, Sammy Mandell. It's a rocky road but Jake and Zeramby are confident. Jake has established himself as a first-rate fighter. He doesn't drink, and he smokes. He knows what life ahead if he keeps right and insists on staying on the top.

Whether he ever gains a throne in the world of fighters or not, it will always be a champion and real one with his family, friends and Lynn following. For he's a great boy as well as a great fighting man.

HARRY KELLEY TRAINS MILLS

Two of the greatest trainers and handlers of boxers in the country will be behind Larry Big Boy Rawson and Bob Mills when they meet in their scheduled 10-round match at Fenway Park one week from tonight.

Behind Mills will be Harry Kelley, former trainer of Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion of the world, while in Rawson's corner will be Al Lacey, trainer of the U. S. Olympic boxing team.

With two such men directing the training courses of Mills and Rawson, it is certain that two well-conditioned young fighters will meet in battle next Thursday night.

Rawson is training at Toland's Gym every afternoon, while Mills is working at Kelley & Hayes' Gym.

The bout should be the best held in Boston in some weeks. Mills is a honest, sincere fighter who gives 100 per cent effort in every fight, and Rawson, with 17 knockouts in 19 professional bouts, has never yet failed to produce a thrill. Win or lose, he gives the customers an opportunity to boo and cheer, and usually gives them a topic of conversation for the next few days.

The manner in which Mills knocked him out some months ago was dramatic. The farmer boy landed his first knockdown three times by the lutey punching of Rawson, but each time he returned to the war with his heavy left looks to the body. His body attack finally brought the resistance out of Rawson and in the sixth round, when he was down, he was on his feet, the fight was stopped.

Polo Cup Final Game Is On Today

New York, July 11 (AP)—The final polo game for the Mandorbo Club cup will be played today at Westbury between the Long Island team and the Sheldons.

Cochrane Prefers "Mike" to "Mickey"

Atlantic City, July 11—Gordon S. Cochrane, star catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, who is sojourning by the sea while his fistic life is mending, says if he should be called back to the team, he would prefer "Mike" to "Mickey." His wife and his children, Connie and all the Athletics' players call him "Mike." He likes the name, he says.

Heron Back Again

South Amherst, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Heron, who has been in the light ring after an absence of many years, defeated Hugh M. Hamill, 1 up.

Terry Too Much for Tommy Murphy

"IT'S ALL OFF!" yelled McGowan as he jumped into the ring pulling Terry McGowan away from Tommy Murphy, who lay helpless on the ropes in the first round after being battered to the floor five times from the Brooklynite's crushing welts at the National Club, Philadelphia, on October 18, 1905.

It was more like a scene in a madhouse than anything else when the fight was stopped. To save Murphy from what seemed a fatal end, Murphy had crawled across the ring to the ropes and was clinging to them as if he were a cat. Terry, who was dressed in his fighting clothes, was standing in the center of the ring, looking down at the fallen Murphy with a look of surprise.

Even then Terry didn't seem to realize that it was over. He tried to get past the referee. He wrestled with him, and it was not until Sam Harniss and Sam Harris put him that he fully realized that the end had come.

It was a whirlwind fight, one that was so fast that it followed the punches was an impossible task. They landed like bullets on the head and body of both boys. Punches were whirled and it looked as though either had a chance at any time until that right dropped over.

JOE HUMPHRIES pulled to Terry just before the first bell. "Remember, don't shake hands," he said. "Remember, don't shake hands, right at him; don't put out your hands." Terry heard. Terry was all ears for the bell. It clanged and he rushed over toward Murphy, who extended his right hand. Terry took it, but what he wanted was a left which luckily for the Harlem boy he did not have.

Tommy backed away as Terry rushed in and they got to a neutral corner where there was a rally. Murphy got out of his daze and McGowan stepped back into the ring, ready to tear the top of Terry's head off. He was still as a statue, as though paralyzed.

Ashley Pitches Mattaponi to Win

"More" Ashley, pitching for Mattaponi Town Team on the Washington River, made another run like a wild man toward his helpless opponent, ready to tear the top of his head off when the referee stopped the fight.

Races Poshed Monday

The regular scheduled midweek races of the Corinthian Yacht Club for special classes at Marblehead were postponed owing to a dreary day and a strong breeze.

SCRAFF TO RELY ON PUNCH

Discarding the much questioned boxing style that he has assumed in many of his recent bouts, Ernie Scraff, Hub sailor, now living at Wrentham has returned to his previous method of attack, which resulted in so many knockouts and which Jack Gagnon, Brighton clashes with him at the Boston Garden next Monday night in the heavyweight feature. Hub fans are certain to be handed a surprise.

A year ago Scraff was regarded as one of the hardest hitting heavyweights in the state with a long string of knockouts behind him. But for some unexplained reason he resorted to a long-range boxing attack which simply disheartened his followers. In adopting his new method, Scraff expects it to bring him to the top quicker and at the same time he expects it to result in a quick victory over Gagnon.

Yet Gagnon is a much improved heavyweight, as he has demonstrated in recent bouts and the rivalry is so keen between these boys that it would not be surprising to see them stand toe to toe exchanging heavy right-hand punches. Each is confident of victory, and the fact that they agreed to divide the state championship money, the winner and 25 per cent going to the loser, indicates the optimism of each.

QUINNET SEEKS GOLF CROWN

Francis Quinnet has entered the state amateur golf championship tournament at Belmont, Spaulding, Mass., today. This is the first time since 1925 that Quinnet has competed in a golf tournament. He was defeated by Whipper Hervey for the championship. Quinnet has won the championship twice, in 1921 and 1922, and is the only golfer to win the crown three successive years.

Hub May Build Golf Course for Women

COMMISSIONER WILLIAM P. LONG of the Park Department, City of Boston, has dropped a hint that the city may erect a nine-hole course, exclusively for women. This is a fine idea, both for the women and Franklin Park.

The women do not get much of a chance to play at the park and many of those who attempt rounds there slow up the traffic.

A municipal course for women would be an innovation in golf. It would be the means of developing much interest in the game among the fair sex, besides speeding up the play at Franklin Park.

Once again let us suggest that the committee look over Fowl Meadow, in the Revere section of Hyde Park, for that area, which is owned by the state, contains no less than 60 acres and could be converted into a golf course at a reasonable cost.

WESTON MARKSMEN WIN EVERETT SHOOT

The Weston Rod and Gun Club defeated the National Foresters of Boston, 211 to 196, in a Massachusetts State Shooting Association League match, held at the Everett Gun Club.

Among those on the committee were: J. L. Litchfield, both former president of the National Foresters Association, Francis Quinnet and John T. Shea, professionals at the Revere Country Club.

Regardless of the ability of the committee, the task of selecting a site for the new "Mamie" was a difficult one, for there are few places in Boston large enough for a golf layout.

Jason Guilford has announced that he will not play in the state amateur golf championship next week at the Belmont Spaulding Country Club. The Brookline team should be a surprise for area has played a couple of fine rounds at Belmont during the past week.

Races Put Over

The scheduled midweek race of the Star class of the Nahant Yacht Club was postponed due to a dreary day and a strong breeze.

DALEY TO BOX BUDDY CLARK

The Cycle A. C. of Revere, which has been sparing for a suitable opening for the past few weeks, has clinched a North Shore "natural" for its feature bout at the Revere Cycle Track next Thursday night.

Tommy Daley, popular Lynn welterweight, was agreed to battle Buddy Clark of Salem in a 10-round return match, for the welterweight championship of the North Shore. Clark, at the last show of the Cycle A. C., knocked out Johnny Barrett of Cambridge in six rounds, displaying a sharp-shooting right hand punch that promises trouble for any welterweight in New England.

Tulley had an excellent winter season, fighting regularly and winning just as regularly. He holds the best yearling 147 pounder in New England, and has been training for the past week for future bouts.

Clark, last spring, he captured Clark in a bruising 10-round battle. Clark then Clark has been boxing for the past week for future bouts.

SIX RIDERS IN CYCLE CLASSIC

BIKE FANS are at a loss as to whom to make the favorite for the big Golden Wheel, 50 mile motor-cyclist race at the Revere Cycle Track Saturday night. But one thing is strongly lacking by many in Little Al Loring, Frenchman who has been in the front line a number of seasons.

Loring has appeared at Revere and showed the stuff he is made of. He won the Wiley Cup four years ago and broke the record made since his first year. In the Revere race, Loring is expected to be one of the favorites. He has been in the front line a number of seasons.

But Loring has arranged as an attractive semifinal, with Ford Spencer, American sprint champion, racing Jimmy Waller and Orlando Plant. This race will be run off in three one mile heats. The winner will be decided in the final.

Other shorter distance races for amateurs and pros will also be held. Butler expects the bike track to be filled to capacity when the sun goes off for the start of Saturday night.

EASED CREDIT SITUATION

SITUATION AID TO BUSINESS

Business during the past month has been maintained at a high rate of activity and the outlook is brighter than at the end of May, although no fundamental changes occurred, according to the June review of The Bank of America, N. A.

"The continuance of a high rate of industrial activity, improvement process of principal agricultural products and a material reduction in credit strain were the outstanding developments during June," the review says. "The seasonal relaxations in operations of certain basic industries was, in the majority of cases, of less than the usual extent. All these factors have combined to give a brighter prospect to the general economic situation than was noticeable at the end of May. The outlook, however, been no fundamental changes in conditions. The amount of credit employed in the securities market is still very large and a part of the recent relaxation in rates is due merely to seasonal influences. It is yet too early to form a re-able estate of the probable success of crops now maturing, the returns they will bring to producers and their effect upon the buying power of a large proportion of the population."

Regarding retail trade conditions the review says:

"The weather during the greater part of June was favorable to retail trade. During most of the month there was pronounced activity in this line of business. Higher temperatures stimulated buying of seasonal goods. There was strong demand, particularly for cottons. Retail shoe manufacturers reported a better demand. Department stores in the New York district showed a moderate increase during May.

"Leading apparel stores reported an average increase of 5 per cent in sales as compared with May 1928. Chain stores reported a substantial increase in total sales during May. The greater percentage of increase was reported in the 10 per cent stores which showed gains of 17 per cent in net sales during May as compared with May 1928. Drug stores reported a gain of 32.4 per cent and grocery stores a gain of 93 per cent."

Purchase of $75,000,000 3½ per cent Treasury notes, 1930-32, and accrued interest, for Treasury sinking fund, by Federal Reserve System is authorized by Act

The Secretary of the Treasury Billings has said that the offer will remain open until the close of business July 16 or may be terminated earlier if the full amount is not received.

The transaction will reconvert the amount of credit into the money market, but it is pointed out that this action is not unusual, and has taken place on several previous occasions. Purchase will be made from residue of $185,000,000 surplus with which the Treasury closed the fiscal year 1929 and will result in a considerable saving in interest following the policy of debt reduction in the money market. The note will be selling below par at slightly above 97½ so that the Treasury offers to purchase is above the current market price.

This also marks the first time retirement of the next large maturing Treasury issue. As of June 30 about $1,360,000,000 of the notes were outstanding. These are due March 15, 1930, and mature in April, 1932. They were issued as part of the operations in retirement of the second Liberty loan bonds.

The present offer is to buy the securities directly from the public rather than purchase from banks. By this sinking fund operation the usual carrying out.

AMERICAN Gas & Electric Co reports output of 64,097,683 kw. hrs. for week ending July 6, 1924, an increase of 19 per cent over year before.
